who is a scientist of fame, recently made some wonderful prophecies in connection with the action of the planets and other heavenly bodies. He says of the "Star of Bethlehem": In 1887 the "Star of Bethlehem" will once more be seen in Cassiopia's chair, and it will be accompanied by a total eclipse of the sun and moon. The star only makes its appearance every 315 years. It will appear and illumine the heavens, and exceed in brilliancy even Jupiter when in opposition to the sun, and, therefore, nearer to the earth and brightest. The marvelous brilliancy of the "Star of Bethlehem" in 1887 will surpass any of its previous visitations. It will be seen even by noonday, shining with a quick flashing light the entire year, after it will gradually decrease in brightness and finally disappear, not to return to our heavens till 3203 or 315 years after 1887.
This star first attracted the attention of modern astronomers in the year 1575. It was then called a new star. It was no new star, however, for this was the star which shone so brightly 4 B. C. and was the star that illumined the heavens at the nativity of Christ. It has reappeared every 315 years since, and every educated astronomer is certain that it will reappear in August, 1887. The appearance of this star, accompanied as it will be by solar and lunar eclipses, together with the baneful influence that follows the positions that Mars and Saturn will occupy, will cause a universal war and portentous floods and fearful shipwrecks. North America will be involved in civil strife, and a reign of terror prevail in the Atlantic States, unless a Napoleon arises to quell it. There will be a war of classes—the rich will array themselves against the poor, and vice versa everywhere.—Washington Republican.

THE REPUBLICAN JOLLIFICATION IN CLARIN-DA, IOWA. Mr. L. B. Calk, a young Democrat of Page county was observed in the audience, and being dragged out delivered himself as follows:

"FELLOW CITIZENS:—A man usually attends his own funeral, but it is not expected that he should talk a great deal. I know funeral ceremonies would go on without me, so I concluded I would bring in the body.
(Laughter.) But it takes a great deal of grace to sustain a man who helps furnish the corpse for an occasion like this. (Laughter.) Nobody but a Democrat has had a chance to try it for the last twenty years.
Disappointment is the modern Democratic birth-right, and mourning his normal condition; they took out a patent on disaster twenty years ago and it has never been infringed. The patent run out in 1876, and they have just got it renewed. (Loud applause.) Looking over the landscape of the last twenty years I behold acres and acres of busted hopes, cords and cords of disgraced ambitions, barrels and barrels of unavailing tears, oceans and oceans strewn with the wreck of phantom ships once burdened with Democratic delusion.
Disappointment is an anchor to the Democratic soul both sure and steadfast.
Leaves have one time to fall,
And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath.
And when to set, but all, O, Democrat?
This has all times for their own death.
I might say with Shylock sufferance, yes, sufferance is the badge of our tribe: I could give you 329 reasons for that. A lawyer offered a judge sixteen reasons why his client was not in court: First, he was dead. The judge told him he might omit the other fifteen. (The first reason of my 82 is we lack the voters. (Laughter.) You will allow me to omit the other 328.
But I could give you 329 reasons. Yes, Morely letter. Kelly did it with his little racket. Wade Hampton's mule broke his leg instead of his neck, and Ben Hill wasn't born a mule. English had foreclosed his mortgages and we couldn't redeem. Then the south that can supply Solid comforts when we die.
(Loud Laughter.) In some States the Greenback party fell through a crack in their platform and crumbled. But Democracy still lives. It's like the mule, it never dies. But, in for unately, like the mule, while it lives it's forever throwing riders. It bucked Greeley off and kicked him in 1872. Filden struck on till he passed the wire, but there was so much slight between him and this Democratic quadruped the judges counted him off, though he had his feet in the stirrups.
This year we got a splendid send off and might have won but the donkey was stricken down in Indiana with (g) Landers. We close this chapter of history with the hope that the story will not be continued in our next. We accept defeat, the more cheerfully because of the magnanimous manner with which you take the victory. We take at every four years. It is a standing prescription. It might well be called the quadrannual tonic. It works up before election and works down as the returns come in. We thank you for the unanimous way in which you have thrown out our fanfare. We congratulate you on the magnificent and imposing grandeur of the obsequies. (Long and continued applause.)

THE CASE DROPPED.—Not even a lawyer, however skilled in cross examination, can make a witness tell the truth, provided the witness wishes to evade it.
It is impossible to put a question in such exact language that it will demand the desired answer. Indeed, nothing is more true than the statement of Talleyrand, that language is intended to cover up one's thoughts, and no one ever practiced the principles contained in the statement than Talleyrand himself. It was necessary on a certain occasion in the court to compel a witness to testify as to the way in which a Mr. Smith treated his horses. "Well, sir," said the lawyer, with a sweet and winning smile, "a smile intended to drown all suspicion as to ulterior purposes—how does Mr. Smith generally ride a horse?" The witness looked up innocently and replied: "Generally a-straddle, sir, I believe."

The lawyer asked again:
"But, sir, what gait does he ride?"
The imperturbable witness answered:
"He never rides any gait at all, sir, but I've seen the boys ride every gait on the farm."

The lawyer saw that he was on the track of a Tartar, and his next question was very insinuating:
"How does Mr. Smith ride when he is in company with others?" I demand a clear answer."

"Well, sir," said the witness, "he k ups up with the rest, if his horse is able to or if not, he falls behind."

The lawyer was by this time almost beside himself, and asked: "And how does he ride when he is alone?"
"I don't know," was the reply; "I was never with him when he was alone," and there the case dropped.

THE BLOODHOUND AT ANDERSONVILLE.

The Detroit Free Press tells a remarkable story of a bloodhound's gratitude at Andersonville. The prisoners were allowed to go out in squads, strongly guarded, to collect firewood. One day it was the hero's turn to go, and for the first since his imprisonment he caught sight of "Colonel Catchem," the big bloodhound. The Michiganian noticed that the dog limped painfully on one of his fore feet, but gave the matter no attention until being out half an hour, he sat down to rest near one of the guards. The dog approached the guard as if to ask some favor, but was repulsed with an oath and a threatened blow. He then stalked around and came near the prisoner, saw that he had an old horsehoe nail run into his foot. With a little coaxing he got the dog near and finally pulled out the nail, and the animal ran away seemingly well pleased.

Twelve days after that, one night about midnight, a tunnel was ready. The prisoner was a long time getting clear of the neighborhood, and weak and starved as he was, not more than two miles from the stockade when day broke, and "Colonel Catchem" was put on his track. When he heard the hound coming he looked for a suitable tree to climb, but failed to find one. Armed with a club, he took his stand, and determined to make fight for it. The dog recognized the man, and began exhibiting every sign of friendship. After a few minutes the pursuers were heard in the distance. The dog at once trotted off in that direction, and was shortly baying and leading them over a fictitious trail. The prisoner pushed ahead for half an hour and was rejoined by the dog, who kept close at his heels or just ahead of him all day, and lay beside him in the woods at night. This position of guardian or companion he maintained until toward night of the second day, when he returned to the stockade. The prisoner, was then thirty miles away, but on the fifth morning he was recaptured. When he returned the hound met and caressed him. From that hour to the close of the war the dog would not take the trail of an escaped prisoner.

Little Treasures.

Silence is generally safe, and generally prudent, but there are times when it is disgraceful to be silent.

One may do a very good action and not be a good man, but he cannot do a very bad one and not be a bad one.

The elephant is never won by anger; nor must that man who would reclaim a lion, take him by the teeth.

Conscience, be it ever so little a worm through our lives, grows suddenly to a serpent on our deathbed.

As it is man's destiny to be ruled by woman, he should, for his own sake, render her as fit for the task as possible.

Friend men seldom have friends. In prosperity they know nobody; and in adversity nobody cares to know them.

She who can tell a frightful story to her child or allow one to be told, ought to have a guardian appointed over herself.

A dull but kindly person is at times a great comfort. A ground glass shade over a gas lamp does not relieve our dazzled eyes more than such a one's mind.

Japanese hand saws cut on the pulverizer, so that no matter how hard the wood or dull the saw, they will not bend or buckle. It is rather more difficult to saw in line with such saws than with ours, but they have their advantages. Take a keyhole or compass saw, cutting on the push or shove stroke—what an aggravating, awkward thing it is! Now point the teeth the other way, and you have a tool that will keep stiff no matter how many knots it encounters or how dull it gets. In other words, the pull-stroke of 3,000 years ago is the best for thin narrow blades.

A new swimming device has been recently patented by William H. Richardson, of Mobile, Ala. It consists essentially of a light frame carrying a float and a long shaft, having at one end a small screw propeller and provided with gearing for turning the propeller. The swimmer reclines on the float, and grasping one of the hand cranks in each hand and placing his feet on the two foot cranks, and proceeds rapidly and easily, with the head far enough above the surface of the water to be comfortable, without extra exertion.

What would the year be without the holiday season? How would a man ever know that his wife truly loved if she didn't have an annual opportunity to buy him a dressing-gown worth eighteen dollars, and have the same charged to his account?—

Time Enough.

Yes, you will love and marry. It is well; it is right; but do not be in such a hurry to be grown up and away from home. Life will never give you anything sweeter, better, happier than you have now. No love purer than your mother's; no care more kindly than your father's, no companionship like that of your brothers and sisters.

Even to the man who loves you, you will not be little Lilly who was a baby once, who learned to walk and to talk, and was prettier than any other baby ever was; nor the little girl who was so wonderful a genius when she played her first tune on the piano, or worked her first book mark.
He who falls in love with you will have known twenty pretty girls and have been in love with half of them. In some things you will fall short of some one he has known.
Your eyes will not be as fine as those of Miss Lavinia, and you will not make cake as his mother does.

Here you have been perfection, even if prudence kept your parents from saying so; they cannot believe any one quite so nice as "our Lilly."

Ah! there is time enough. Linger a little where some one else shoulders the burthens and gives you all the ease; where the love is a love that does not change because of a new face; where the fonder you are, the more you are adored.

It may be all that you hope in the new life you long for, but—it may not; and assuredly! childish freedom from care will never come again when once you are the one to shoulder the burthen.

You will do it gladly, if you are a good woman, for the sake of little creatures yet unborn. You will bear all that womanhood brings uncomplainingly, and may a tender heart be your pillow in those days when you know what life really is; but there is time enough, time enough. Linger a little at the threshold which, once crossed, can never be yours again.—N. Y. Ledger.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 15, 1881.
Probably no other holiday season ever saw so few Congressmen or other public men in Washington as this one. Those who went away were fortunate, too, for during several days of late the weather has been more severe here than anywhere else in the country. Even Hannibal Hamlin has put on an overcoat, being the first one he ever wore. The snow is a foot or more deep, and promises to last a month. We are having more sleighing than ever before. To-morrow a sleighing carnival will be held on our magnificent Pennsylvania Avenue—a street 160 feet wide, as straight as the crow's flight from the Capitol to the Treasury—over a mile—and as smooth as a parlor floor. Every sort of runnered vehicle, from a mounted dry good box to the finest Portland sleigh, will be exhibited. The rare delight of perfect sleighing in this latitude is being fully enjoyed.

But the intensely cold weather, for which not half the city is ever prepared, causes a great deal of suffering. Efficient means of relief do not, of course, exist as in more Northern cities, and have to be improvised. It should be said to the credit of Washington that it gives most liberally on such occasions, considering the small amount of accumulated wealth here, and the almost total absence of manufactures and large business enterprises of all kinds.

Congress meets again in two days. The most interesting rumor connected with the assembling is the effect that Senator Conkling will call the Senate's attention to the subject of Senator Bayard's alleged speech during the late campaign in which it is said the former was charged with receiving a portion of the money wrongfully taken by the Government some years ago from a firm of New York merchants. Just what sharp Senator Conkling will give to his allusion in the matter is not known to anyone. Several members of the House Committee on Appropriations, who remained during the recess, have ready two appropriation bills to report to the full committee, and others are nearly ready.

It is not known what day Mr. Wood can call up his funding bill, but whenever he does it is to be disposed of by the House at once. If Mr. Cox, of the Census Committee, is able to return soon, he will report the reapportionment bill, the figures being ready for him at the Census Office.

There is a curious rumor around town that some influential Democrat does not wish and will try to prevent the presence of a quorum of their party in the House during the balance of the session, or at least up to the meeting in joint convention to count the electoral vote. They remember that if a quorum of Democrats once appears Mr. Bicknell will call up the Electoral bill, which has already caused so much debate, and they wish to avoid further discussion of the subject at present. Of course it is not a matter of principle with them, but of supposed expediency.

President Hayes in conversation recently expressed himself as overjoyed that his term was so near the close.

NO POWER TO SUB.—Yesterday afternoon a case was brought to a sudden close in the Justices' court, before Justice of the Peace Connolly, by a simple appeal to the statutes Messrs. Baxter & Blank, forming the Excelsior Portrait Company, No. 136 Post street, brought an action against Mr. McDaniel to recover pay for a picture copied in water colors. Payment was refused on the ground that the contract called for a picture in India ink. The contract was produced, and showed that "water colors" was called for. But the defense thereupon asked if Messrs. Baxter & Blank had filed with the County Clerk the names of the members of the firm known as the Excelsior Portrait Company. As they had not, reference to sections 2466 and 2468 of the Civil Code put an end to the case, as these sections forbid the maintenance of an action by the members of a firm which had not registered its name with the County Clerk.—S. F. Bulletin.

There are probably about eighty snow mounds in and around Candalaria, which have been thrown up by the frugal denizens. They vary from three to ten feet in height. Their use is to preserve the snow for the manufacture of water.

A STATE EXPOSITION.—Assemblyman J. Wasson has introduced a bill to provide for an exposition of the resources of the State.

The Superior Court of San Francisco has decided that a restaurant is not a boarding house under the law.

Surprise is expressed by farmers at the advanced state of the early sown wheat in San Joaquin county.

It is understood that Justice Swaine will retire from the bench next week, and that he will be succeeded by Stanley Matthews.

THE CHINESE TREATY.

Now that a new Chinese treaty is before Congress and the country—a treaty that is supposed to be satisfactory to the people of the Pacific States, and to the mechanics and workmen of the whole country—the sympathy of the Eastern dollar-worshipper for the Chinaman is already cropping out, as will be seen by the following from the New York Commercial Bulletin, which, in quoting Commissioner Swift's statement about Chinese naturalization being null and void, says:

"If Swift is correctly reported here, we are inclined to think no such treaty as he and his confederates have brought home with them will ever receive the sanction of the United States Senate. There are many Chinese merchants who are among the largest taxpayers on the Pacific coast, and in New York the courts, as is well known, have had no scruples about granting naturalization papers to persons of this nationality. The exclusion is totally at variance with the spirit of our free institutions."

The statement of the Commercial Bulletin, that "the Chinese merchants are among the largest taxpayers on the Pacific coast," cannot be verified through any assessment roll in this State. It is notorious that the Chinese pay very little toward the support of the State and county government in proportion to population. So far as the New York courts having "no scruples about granting naturalization papers" to Chinamen, the courts of this city never have exhibited any scruples about doing anything repugnant to law, order and morality, for the judiciary of that city has been corrupt to the core, and perhaps it is not much better now. The Federal Courts have decided that the Chinese are not eligible to citizenship, and a State court has no right to overrule their decisions. The business man in the Eastern States cares more for the almighty dollar than he does for the poor white creatures of the Almighty who are suffering for work and the necessities of life through the presence of the Chinese in this country. Our Commissioners to China have perfected a treaty with the Chinese Government, which is said to be perfectly satisfactory with its provisions, and as the treaty is said to contain all that Californians could expect that country to grant, the Senate of the United States should not unnecessarily delay its ratification and under no circumstances should Eastern sympathy be allowed to influence Senators in the matter, but there will evidently be a strong influence brought to defeat it. The Senator that votes against the ratification of the new Chinese treaty—providing it is as represented—may as well make up his mind never to aspire to any position on a popular vote. The treaty, it is said, instructs our Government full control of the Chinese question, and after its ratification the people can instruct their Representatives how to act on the important question, if they do not already know the will of the people.

Another appeal is made for a contribution for the relief of colored refugees in Kansas, whose distress is pronounced a fatal reality.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

ANOTHER FOUL MURDER.—Again Bodie comes to the front with another murder—the foulest of the many that have disgraced that town. Yesterday morning at half-past one o'clock, Joseph DaRoche, a French-Canadian, shot to death Thomas Treloar, a Cornish miner. It appears to have been a cold-blooded murder of a peaceable and harmless citizen by a notorious desperado. And, to add enormity to the crime, the custody of the murderer was entrusted to a drunken constable, being removed from the jail for that purpose, and, consequently he escaped, Farnsworth, the constable, being obnoxious to all except the prisoner offering him $1,000 to let him escape. DaRoche had attended the A. O. U. W. hall and danced with Mrs. Treloar, against the request of her husband. About the close of the hall DaRoche left the hall and laid in wait for his victim at the corner of Main and Lowe streets, where Treloar was shot through the head. Intense excitement prevails in Bodie against the murderer and Farnsworth.

COURT HOUSE BAIL.—A grand ball is to take place at the new Court House on the 23d day of February next. This will be the great ball of the season, as no pains or expense will be spared to make it so, and the floor furnishes ample room for twenty-two sets. Our friends throughout the county will please note these facts and govern themselves accordingly.

HEADLIGHT ASSESSMENT.—In another column, among our new advertisements, will be found the assessment notice of the Headlight Mining Company, of Lake District, an assessment of ten cents a share having been levied. It will be delinquent on the 14th of February; sale, March 7th.

Coyotes.—Nightfall brings the coyotes to town, and till after daylight their peculiar bark rings out from the meadows. As a bill is pending in the Legislature for the destruction of coyotes, our sharpshooters may have an opportunity to combine pleasure with profit.

RETURNED.—After a brief recreation at San Francisco, Paul Bennett returned to Bodie this week much improved in health. Mrs. Sheriff Taylor and family arrived at Bodie, from San Francisco, on Sunday, and on Monday removed to Bridgeport, where they will permanently reside.

PIONEERS.—At a meeting of the Pacific Coast Pioneers, held at Bodie on Tuesday evening last, the following officers were elected: B. B. Jackson, President; P. N. Snyder, First Vice President; S. F. Hooley, Second Vice President; J. F. Kirgan, Treasurer.

A BREWERY.—We learn that parties contemplate starting a brewery here in the Spring. Such an institution would pay well here, as lawyers and litigants will be so well pleased with the new Court House they will get into the meshes of the law for the pleasures of Bridgeport life.

DISOLVED.—The firm of Crapp & Smith, the Court House painters, has been dissolved by mutual consent. The business will hereafter be conducted by James H. Smith on his own account. See advertisement in another column.

WARM AND WINDY.—The weather this week has been warm—a January thaw. A heavy gale prevailed yesterday, and this morning snow fell until about noon, when it cleared off pleasantly.

PERSONAL.—This week, Postmaster G. L. Putnam, of Bodie, Frank V. Drake and Judge Frank Owen, O. F. Hakes, and Paul W. Bennett, all of Bodie, have been in town on legal business.

AFLOAT.—The road to Antelope is under water for a distance of two miles from our town.

SAM CHUNG.—The second trial of Sam Chung for murder will commence on Monday, the 17th, before Judge Briggs.

COURT.—Superior Court No. 1, Hon. R. M. Briggs, Judge, presiding, will meet on Monday next.

DENTISTRY.—Dr. Feshaw, who has entered upon his fourth year residence in Bodie, and can be found at his new rooms, Standard Building, next door to the telegraph office, does everything in the line of dentistry skillfully and promptly. We commend him to the public.

A MAMMOTH PAPER.—We have received the Christmas Illustrated Spirit of the Times, San Francisco. Marcus D. Boruck, editor and compiler. It is a 66-page paper, 43 of which are devoted to reading matter and illustrations. Its illustrations comprise views of prominent points in California, portraits of many of our public men, cuts of a few of California's fast horses, and views of public buildings, including a fine one of the State Capitol. Its general make-up and press work are a credit to the employees of the office, and the irrepressible Boruck may be proud of his work.

BURNED.—The Hale & Norcross hoisting works at Virginia City were destroyed by fire at 7:30 on Wednesday evening through the explosion of a kerosene lamp in the changing room. Loss $500,000. No lives lost. They will not be rebuilt.

AGAIN CHAIRMAN.—Hon. J. W. Wason, our Assemblyman, has again been placed at the head of the Mining Committee of the Assembly, a position he is well calculated for, and where he will be of much benefit to the mining industries of the State.

Nevada thinks it needs a State Forester to care for growing forests, keep account of the timber supply, etc. He would more than earn his salary in trying to find the forests.

The people of southern Los Angeles are urging the division of that county. They wish the new county to be called Orange; both Santa Ana and Anaheim want the county seat.

Over 2,000 local option petitions are being circulated in the State. Four hundred names have been secured in San Bernardino county.

Baron Jacob Schroeder, a prominent German in his own country and this, and once the editor of the Cincinnati Volksblatt, died Sunday.

The Pennsylvania Legislature on Tuesday last had only thirty-eight candidates to choose a U. S. Senator from.

Petitions asking Congress to examine into the titles of certain railroad lands are going the rounds in the southern counties.

The Carson Times says that trout weighing thirty, forty, and even sixty pounds each, have been taken from Walker lake.

CONUNDRUM.—The question agitating the taxpayers is: "Why is a branch jail needed in Bodie?"

A project is on foot to have California Odd Fellows meet at San Jose, April 26th.

There are eleven mining locations in this State named after President-elect Garfield.

The recent smallpox cases have cost Amador county about $5,000.

HOUSE AND FARM.

Various Suggestions.

There are a number of good practices which farmers might be induced to adopt, if occasionally reminded of them. Among them we give the following:—

Copper wire and copper straps are often very convenient and of much use in repairing tools, doors, gates and parts of buildings. Copper wire is about as easily handled as twine, and is more unyielding and durable. Its flexibility gives it great advantage over iron wire, and it does not rust. Copper straps for nailing are better than leather on one hand and hoop iron on the other. Copper tacks are good for mending old harness, as they are easily clenched.

Provide boxes or shelves with apartments, place in appropriate divisions, distinctly marked, all refuse screws, nails, bolts, rivets, staples, tacks, etc., and replenish them as needed by purchases at hardware stores. Procuring all the kinds and sizes you ever want. Such things always at hand, costing perhaps but a few cents, may save you dollars in time when repair is needed at a busy time and laborers are waiting.

Teach every person in your employ, as well as yourself, always to put every tool back in its place as soon as done with, no matter how great a hurry he may be in. Better spare half a minute now in doing so than for you to hunt half an hour with a team or man waiting. We know men who waste whole days in the aggregate in hunting for misplaced tools, and in asking eight or ten different persons on the place where they are.

Keep your cellar property and well drained; allow no decaying matter in it; prohibit the throwing of slops in puddles at the back door, and never allow sink pipes to become choked or to emit foul air. Much of the sickness in the country is caused by such bad air.

Keep all the hinges and latches about the house oiled, to prevent wear and squeaking. Go over them once a week with oil and feather; make regular work of it. Keep joints properly dressed at latches and hinges, and see that they do not sag. The labor of dressing a sagging gate is as hard as it is useless.

Use coalashes or wood dust, or both, in all your vaults daily. This will prevent the danger of wells becoming poisoned by the drainage.

Give pure water to animals. Cows are sometimes watered from wells in the manure yard containing impurities, and the milk is thus more or less defiled and poisoned, the butter tainted, and the owner wonders why his family suffers so much from sickness. If you expect good healthy pigs and wholesome pork, let them have pure food and constantly clean quarters. We have actually seen the carcasses and dirty character of some farmers' pig-pens.

Use petroleum as a preservative of all exposed wood-work and tools. It is very cheap, and penetrates the pores. It is good for all wood buildings, good for gates, farm wagons, rakes and forks and for all rustic work exposed to weather. It will pay its cost back again at least one thousand per cent.

On rainy days, examine your mowers and reapers, and all other machinery of a similar character; clear off all the grease on the axles which has been hardened with dust, and put all in good running order. Kerosene applied to such parts will enable you to clean them easily.

When any tool harness, wagon or any thing else breaks do not wait till you need it before repairing it, but get it mended at once. If a horse loses a shoe, do not wait till he becomes lame, but have it set immediately. Country Gentleman.

Vinegar.—A method employed in France, which converts cider or other liquid into vinegar, is more expeditiously than ordinary practices, preparing the process with preparing the barrels or casks by first scalding them with water and next pouring into them boiling vinegar, rolling the barrels and allowing them to stand on their side two or three days, until they become thoroughly saturated with the vinegar. The preparation over, the barrels are filled about one-third full with strong pure cider vinegar and two gallons of cider. Every eighth day thereafter two gallons of cider are added until the barrel is two-thirds full. In 14 days after the last two gallons are added the whole will have been converted into vinegar, one-half of which is drawn off and the process of filling with cider begun again. In summer the barrels during the process of conversion are exposed to the rays of the sun, and in cold weather are stored where a uniform temperature of about 80 degrees can be maintained.

To Keep Chimneys from Cracking.—The following receipt for keeping lamp chimneys from cracking is taken from the Diamond, a Leipzig journal devoted to the glass interest:

Place your tumbler, chimneys or vessels which you desire to keep from cracking in a pot filled with cold water, and a little cooking salt, allow the mixture to boil well over a fire, and then cool slowly. Glass treated in this way is said not to crack even when exposed to very sudden changes of temperature. Chimneys are said to become very durable by the process, which may also be extended to crockery, stoneware, porcelain, etc. The process is simply one of annealing, and the slower the process, especially the cooling portion of it, the more effective will be the work.

Inquisitive people are the funnels of conversation; they do not take in anything for their own use, but merely pass it to an other.

How to use Oil-stones.—Instead of oil which thickens and makes the stones dirty a mixture of glycerine and alcohol is used by many. The proportions of the mixture vary according to the instrument operated upon. An article with a large surface, a razor, for instance, sharpens best with a limpid liquid, as three parts of glycerine to one of alcohol. For a graving tool, the cutting surface of which is very small, as is also the pressure exercised on the stone in sharpening, it is necessary to employ glycerine almost pure, with but two or three drops of alcohol.

Ink spots, if soaked in warm milk before they have a chance to get dry, may usually be removed. If it has dried in, rub table salt upon it and drop lemon juice upon the salt. This answers nearly as well as the salts of lemon sold by apothecaries. If a lemon cannot be easily procured, vinegar or sorrel juice will answer. White soap diluted with vinegar is likewise a good thing to take out ink spots.

Delicious Pumpkin Pie.—Pumpkin the size of a two quart bowl, steamed and sifted, three pints of milk, one cup of cream or two tablespoonfuls of butter four eggs, quarter of a teaspoonful of cinnamon, the name of ginger, half a nutmeg, sugar and salt to suit the taste. Bake in a slow oven one hour and a half.

"Can there be happiness where there is no love?" solemnly queries an author in a book on marriages. Not much happiness, perhaps, but if the girl is awfully rich there can be lots of fun.

Now, when every fashionable lady has finally got her heel pinched, squeezed, calloused and deformed to fit the shape of French heel shoes, fashion whips about and announces broad heels again.

The reason why so few marriages are happy is because young ladies spend their time in making nests, not in making cages!—Swift.

I have seldom seen much ostentation and much learning met together. The sun, rising and declining makes long shadows; when he is highest, none at all.—Hall.
